Board Declares April 9 As County Holiday

by William C. Hubbard

APPOMATTOX —Final plans for the three day commemoration program here are now complete. The big day, of course, is April 9, when, one hundred years ago, on a Palm Sunday, General Lee surrendered the remnants of the Army of Northern Virginia to General Ulysses S. Grant. This April 9 will see Lee and Grant at Appomattox, also—Robert E. Lee, IV, of San Francisco, Calif., and Major General Ulysses S. Grant, III, OF Clinton, N. Y., and Washington, D. C., great - grandson and grandson, respectively, of the famous generals. They will participate in the dedication and ribboncutting of the newly built court house which was destroyed by fire in 1892 and recently rebuilt by the National Park Service. Also present will be Virginia's Governor Albertis Harrison, Jr.; Bruce Catton, guest speaker for the commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the surrender of General Lee to General Grant; Senators Harry F Flood Byrd and A. W. Robertson, Congressman Watkins M. Abbitt and many more political and public figures.

Appomattox is girding itself for a two-way "invasion": stamp collectors who will flock in April 9 to be on hand for the first day sale of the Appomattox Commemorative Stamp and those coming for the ceremonies at the Surrender Grounds. In addition to the stamp collectors, there will be those attracted to the post office area to see the designer of the Appomattox stamp, Mr. Leonard Pollman, of Edina, Mich., and at an 11 a.m. program luncheon William M. McMillan, Director, National Park Service, and the Hon. Watkins M. Abbitt.

Friday night at 8 p.m., the Special music will be offered Appomattox High School auditorium will present a program of music entitled, "Music of Blue and Gray", with the assistance of guest artists in period costume.

Saturday night the Appomattox Chapter United Daughters of Confederacy, will present a program at the Appomattox Elementary School auditorium at 8 p.m. honoring the Confederate Appomattox County veterans. The Hon. Watkins M. Abbitt will be master of ceremonies for this program. The UDC will be assisted in the program by the local American Legion Post and auxiliary. Mrs. C. H. Robinson is in charge of this program.

BRUCE CATTON

Four Year Civil War Events To Conclude Here

RICHMOND, Virginia — The four-year Virginia commemoration of the Civil War will come to a conclusion at Appomattox Court House, Friday, April 9, ceremonies at Appomattox will mark the surrender of General Robert E. Lee's Army of Northern Virginia, and will climax the commemoration of the whole grateful events of the spring of 1865 as the American Civil War raced to an abrupt end.

"This will be the last of the big events sponsored by the Virginia Civil War Commission," James J. Geary, Executive Director, said.

Civil War historian Bruce Catton will speak at 2 p.m. in a program luncheon sponsored by the State commission, the National Park Service and the Appomattox Civil War Centennial Committee.

General U. S. Grant, III and Robert E. Lee, IV will join with Congressman Watkins M. Abbitt and George B. Hartzog in cutting the ribbon dedicating the newly reconstructed court house at the park.

Estimates of the crowd expected to attend have varied from 10,000 to 20,000. At the 1950 dedication of the reconstructed McLean House — where the surrender terms were signed by Lee and Grant — there was an estimated 20,000 in attendance.

"The Centennial Center in Richmond will remain open to the public until November 30," Geary said. He pointed out that the commission must dispose of exhibits in the Center which belong to it, and return those that are borrowed.

Governor Harrison will welcome the crowd at the Appomattox centennial commemoration Friday at the Appomatox Court House Park.

The program will begin with a concert by the United States Marine band from Quantico, Va., at 1:40 p.m. Del. John Warren Cooler, of Matthews, Chairman of the Virginia Commission, will be master of ceremonies.

Elbert Cox, regional director of the National Park Service, will introduce Catton. A color guard from Virginia Military a V.M.I. rifle unit will fire a salute. At the end of the program three buglers from V.M.I. will play 'Taps' in succession, giving an echo effect.

During the program, William M. McMillan, assistant United States Postmaster General, will give out some stamp albums with the special Appomatox stamp going on sale that day.

The invocation will be given by Rev. Robert L. Alderman, Appomattox, and the benediction by Rev. John L. Suttenfield, Lynchburg.
